Canadian Western Agribition postpones Annual General Meeting and Volunteer Appreciation Night in response to COVID-19

Regina, Saskatchewan - Canadian Western Agribition (CWA) announced today that in response to restrictions and recommendations surrounding COVID-19, CWA's Annual General Meeting and Volunteer Appreciation Night have been postponed.

Both events were scheduled for April 16 at Evraz Place. New dates will be set in the coming weeks and details will be communicated to members, volunteers, stakeholders and partners.

In the meantime, planning for CWA's 50th show continues with full intention to open Agribition on November 30, 2020 as scheduled.

"We want every one of our exhibitors, guests, volunteers and partners to be safe and healthy in the weeks ahead," says CWA President Chris Lees. "We'll keep working to make sure Agribition is ready to go in November and remain Canada's most important agricultural showcase."

At this time, trade show bookings and livestock entries will open as regularly scheduled with normal refund and cancellation policies in effect. More information can be found online at www.agribition.com

"All of CWA is determined to do our part and follow the health recommendations," says CWA CEO Chris Lane. "We're equally determined to be there for all our guests, farm families and partners in November."
